

a vlog-style series created by Bora, containing moments from touring and recording a 10-episode sketch comedy series starring all of the members, with music videos peppered in

tally
also has some internet content:

here's where you can learn more about tally

- hiddeninthesand.com
- tally hall's youtube channel
- tallyall.club
- r/tallyhall on reddit

this zine was made by killer bangs killerbangs.neocities.org :)

tally
has some albums:

they think they're playing in a band:

a quick intro to
tally
hall

Bora Karaca

- honorary member, tour manager, videographer, mascot
- born at the age of 0 in Michigan at a hospital that no longer exists

Ross Federman

- drummer
- doesn't know much about Winnipeg
- learned to drum on a kit donated to his high school by Chad Smith

tally
consists of the automated players, i proclaim

tally
hall are a five-piece band from Ann Arbor, Michigan.

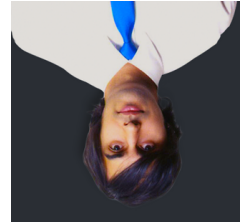

Tally Hall met while attending University of Michigan, playing shows on campus until they became an internet sensation.

Their name comes from an old food court in Farmington Hills, Michigan. They called their music "wonky rock", and later used the term "fabloo" (too many people were trying to categorize exactly what "wonky" meant.) They have two studio albums and two demo collections, but have unfortunately been inactive since 2011 :)

Andrew Horowitz

- green tie
- keyboard and vocals
- only member not from Michigan (New Jersey)
- favorite overused word: awesome

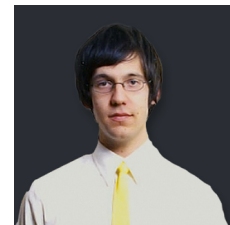

Zubin Sedghi

- blue tie
- bass and vocals
- currently a family medicine doctor
- wonders if you guys have ever tried natural ketchup

tally
consists of the automated players, i proclaim

tally
hall consists of the automated players, i proclaim

Rob Cantor

- wonders if biblical characters ever made small talk
- writes heterophonic tunes of how love bites :(
- guitar and vocals
- yellow tie

Joe Hawley

- once developed a condition known as "Nintendo thumb"
- when Joe Hawley attacks no one survives
- rhythm guitar and vocals
- red tie

